

LiFeBATT Investor Relations

LiFeBATT is seeking investors who want to become part of our growth opportunity with lithium iron phosphate batteries. LiFeBATT is a privately owned USA corporation with no debt. The worldwide headquarters with manufacturing facilities are located in Danville VA. There is increased demand for our prismatic lithium iron phosphate batteries and we need to increase production capability. Investors will be given partial ownership of the company. The ideal investor will also serve on the Board of Directors of the corporation. Our long term plan is to use the initial investment money to expand production and then to issue stock in 2014.

LiFeBATT was formed in 2007 to manufacture lithium iron phosphate batteries using the technology and patents developed at the University of Texas. Worldwide demand for evaluation batteries increased when the Sandia National Laboratories issued a positive test report on our first 10 AH cylindrical battery cells. We have increased the cell size and now offer larger prismatic cells. Customers who tested our evaluation batteries are now requesting larger quantities for end product production. LiFeBATT Inc. owns the worldwide rights to the name LiFeBATT and is in the process of expanding international distribution.
